

COMPLETED STEM CENTERS

The Cal Ripken, Sr. Foundation's national STEM initiative aims to provide access to elementary and middle school STEM education in underserved communities. We partner with local school districts across the U.S. in need of STEM resources to help students succeed academically in STEM subjects. Using evidenced-informed practices, we train educators to use age-appropriate educational products and the Ripken Foundation's curriculum, which is based on Next Generation Science Standards, to spark the imagination and creativity of youth. Kids are able to discover, explore, develop, and engage using experiential learning throughout the year. To date, we have 400 completed STEM Centers in 23 states impacting over 132,000 kids with 21 district-wide STEM programs across the country.
